GREENSBORO AQUATIC CENTER TO HOST 2017 USA DIVING WINTER NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

For the third time in five years, USA Diving will bring a national championship event to Greensboro, N.C.

The 2017 USA Diving Winter National Championships will be held December 13-19 at the Greensboro Aquatic Center (GAC).

The event will bring nearly 150 of the nation's best divers to Greensboro as they compete for 10 national titles. Additionally, a Youth Olympic Games selection event will be held in conjunction with the winter nationals to determine which divers the United States sends to the Youth Olympic Games qualifying meet in 2018.

In 2012, the GAC hosted USA Diving's AT&T National Diving Championships, Age Group National Championships and Junior National Championships, marking the first time since 2006 that the junior nationals and AT&T Nationals had been held at the same venue.

Greensboro Aquatic Center also was the site of the first USA Diving Synchronized National Championships, an event that debuted in 2015.

About Greensboro Aquatic Center

Located on the campus of the Greensboro Coliseum Complex, the 78,323-square-foot indoor Greensboro Aquatic Center (www.greensboroaquaticcenter.com) has emerged as one of the top aquatic venues in the nation since its opening in 2011. Built at a cost of nearly $19 million, the state-of-the-art, multi-purpose, three-pool facility has hosted an impressive national swim meet calendar including numerous USA Swimming, USA Diving, U.S. Masters, NCAA, ACC and YMCA national championships. The GAC also serves local citizens through its daily hosting of fitness classes, club and school swim and dive team practices, private swim lessons and its unique partnership with Guilford County Schools in the development of a privately financed, curriculum-based 'Learn to Swim' healthy lifestyle program.
